I strongly urge you to continue your pursuit of more stringent anti-trust penalties against the Microsoft corporation. The present half-hearted settlement proposed by the Federal Government seems more informed by political considerations rather than looking out for the welfare of consumers. As we speak, Microsoft continues with the same unlawful anti-competitive practices for which they have already been cited by the Federal courts, a citation upheld at all levels. The proposed Federal settlement will have very limited effect on this continuing anti-competitive behavior of Microsoft.
